Profile

I am a versatile composer and producer who studied music from school to A-level and then music technology at university. Studying both music and music technology has provided me with the necessary skills to create effective and memorable compositions, as well as producing them to an ample quality adequate for film, radio, youtube, etc.

I have studied a broad range of styles and therefore appreciate a multitude of genres. I also have a strong creative drive which provides me with strong stamina, when it comes to striving to make the listeners experience the best that I can possible.

As well as a composing and producing music, I am also a musician. I've been a vocalist and guitarist for 16 years (although I predominantly write using piano). Being an experienced vocalist has allowed me to write catchy but also sometimes complex melodies and lyrics which are still within a realistic and performable range for the singer.

Examples can be found on my website, or contact me directly at Phillip.McHugh@outlook.com.

Fiverr

In-between larger products, I work as a freelancer on Fiverr.com. I provide services such as: writing songs with any instrumentation and with the option of lyrics and vocal guides, writing to video/film, writing music for podcasts or youtube videos, vocal tuning and time aligning for singers and other producers.
